

Quarterly Statement as at March 31, 2026

Continental Increases Profitability in Tires and ContiTech

- › Consolidated sales of €4.4 billion (Q1 2025: €4.9 billion, -10.4 percent); organic growth of -0.9 percent
- › Adjusted EBIT of €522 million (Q1 2025: €492 million, +6.1 percent)
- › Adjusted EBIT margin of 11.9 percent (Q1 2025: 10.7 percent)
- › Net income of €200 million (Q1 2025: €68 million, +196.5 percent)
- › Adjusted free cash flow of €35 million (Q1 2025: -€216 million, +116.0 percent)
- › Outlook confirmed despite current geopolitical developments: consolidated sales of around €17.3 billion to €18.9 billion; adjusted EBIT margin of around 11.0 to 12.5 percent

Continental started 2026 with a good first quarter. The Tires and ContiTech group sectors both increased their adjusted EBIT margins compared with the same quarter of last year, despite burdens from tariffs and exchange-rate effects. Adjusted free cash flow was also up year-on-year. By contrast, the economic environment and weak global markets hampered sales growth. Even against the backdrop of current geopolitical developments, Continental has confirmed its full-year outlook. Expectations for 2026 remain unchanged, with consolidated sales of around €17.3 billion to €18.9 billion and an adjusted EBIT margin of around 11.0 to 12.5 percent.

Significantly improved profitability within the Continental Group

In the past quarter, Continental achieved consolidated sales of €4.4 billion (Q1 2025: €4.9 billion, -10.4 percent). Before exchange-rate effects and changes in the scope of consolidation, its organic sales were down 0.9 percent. The adjusted operating result amounted to €522 million (Q1 2025: €492 million, +6.1 percent), corresponding to an adjusted EBIT margin of 11.9 percent (Q1 2025: 10.7 percent).

Net income attributable to the shareholders of the parent in the first quarter amounted to €200 million (Q1 2025: €68 million, +196.5 percent). Adjusted free cash flow was €35 million (Q1 2025: -€216 million, +116.0 percent).

Development of the group sectors

In the first quarter, the Tires group sector achieved sales of €3.3 billion (Q1 2025: €3.4 billion, -4.7 percent). Sales were negatively impacted by exchange-rate effects in the low triple-digit million euro range. Its adjusted EBIT margin was up year-on-year at 14.4 percent (Q1 2025: 13.4 percent). Contributing to this improvement were the upward trend in the replacement-tire business, the successful business in large passenger-car tires measuring 18 inches and above (ultra-high-performance tires), lower raw material costs than in the same quarter of last year and a strong focus on costs.

In an ongoing weak market environment, ContiTech improved operationally and increased its adjusted operating result year-on-year. The group sector achieved sales of €1.2 billion (Q1 2025: €1.5 billion, -24.4 percent). The decline in sales was mainly due to the sale of the Original Equipment Solutions (OESL) business area at the beginning of February 2026 as well as negative exchange-rate effects. ContiTech's adjusted EBIT margin was 7.9 percent (Q1 2025: 6.2 percent). This positive development was driven by a focus on high-margin products, a strong trading business and lower raw material costs. The measures taken to safeguard earnings also had a positive impact.

Outlook for fiscal 2026

Continental expects demand in the replacement-tire markets for passenger cars and light commercial vehicles to remain virtually unchanged year-on-year in 2026. We expect the production of passenger cars and light commercial vehicles to be slightly lower than in the previous year, with a negative development expected in our core markets of Europe and North America as well as in China.

This outlook takes into account the tense geopolitical situation and the impact this is currently expected to have in 2026. Should the geopolitical situation remain tense or become even worse, particularly due to the military conflict in the Middle East, this could cause sustained disruptions to production, supply chains and demand, as well as lead to rising costs.

Based on these assumptions, as well as current tariff impacts and exchange rates, we expect the following key financial figures for fiscal 2026:

- › We expect the Continental Group to achieve sales in the range of around €17.3 billion to €18.9 billion and an adjusted EBIT margin of around 11.0 to 12.5 percent.
- › We expect our Tires group sector to achieve sales of around €13.2 billion to €14.2 billion and an adjusted EBIT margin of around 13.0 to 14.5 percent.
- › We expect our ContiTech group sector to achieve sales of around €4.2 billion to €4.8 billion and an adjusted EBIT margin of around 7.0 to 8.5 percent.
- › Consolidated amortization of intangible assets from purchase price allocation (PPA) is expected to be around €25 million and affect mainly the ContiTech group sector.
- › In addition, we anticipate negative special effects of around €250 million.
- › In 2026, we expect the negative financial result to be around €300 million before effects from currency translation, effects from changes in the fair value of derivative instruments, and other valuation effects.
- › The tax rate is expected to be around 24 percent.
- › The capital expenditure ratio is anticipated to be around 7.0 percent of sales in fiscal 2026.
- › In 2026, we are planning on adjusted free cash flow of approximately €0.8 billion to €1.2 billion.

Key Figures for the Continental Group
